Art Palm Beach Day 4: Last Day at the Show and more...

The weekend got off to a great start at Art Palm Beach with a constant energetic flow of visitors throughout the day including many families with children. We were pleased to host the first of our live program events, Science Meets Art, as part of our DIVERSEartPB exhibition platform, and a visit from West Palm Beach Mayor Keith James, who presented Florida Artists Hall of Famer Bruce Helander with a proclamation for his achievements.

Featured Exhibition Highlight

M.C. Escher

Presented by Walker Fine Art

Booth 605/506

A curated selection of The Rock J. Walker collection, the exhibition represents the second largest of three comprehensive collections of the work of M.C. Escher, (1898 to 1972) was a Dutch artist known for his woodcuts and lithographs. Less well known are the artist's drawings, watercolors and the original woodblocks used for printing. This collection of more than 400 original Escher works acquired over four decades, includes works in all mediums, from all periods of the artist's career. The collection also contains models, letters, tools, photographs and pieces of furniture designed, cut, carved and assembled by Escher. It is Rock J. Walker's dream for the world to see the beauty and importance of Escher's artwork both as it stands alone aesthetically and as a bridge between art and science.
